It's the things you may take for granted, like starting your car or drying your hair. But seeing her patients do these things they once thought were impossible, motivates Natalie Dycus, OTRL, CHT every day.

Natalie was inspired to become an OT after seeing her father develop challenges during an illness. She went on to pursue a Bachelor of Arts in Occupational Therapy at Baker College, graduating in 1999. Then, in 2017, she received a National Certification in Hand Therapy. Natalie has worked all over the country as an OT and most recently worked with surgical and non-surgical patients alongside orthopedic and hand surgeons.

With 20 years of experience as an occupational therapist, Natalie specializes in wrist fractures, trigger point release and scar management. She's expertly trained in kinesiology taping and splint making. She believes education is an integral part of therapy. She wants her patients to understand exactly why she's asking them to do a certain task and the long-term goal.

Natalie began working at Advanced PT in March of 2019 and loves the family atmosphere she found. Family is important to her when she's not at the clinic, too. She loves to spend time with them up north on the water. Natalie is a runner and loves to ski in the winter.

Natalie wants her patients to know, she likes to keep the lines of communication open. She says she wants to know about day-to-day struggles, so she can find real solutions during therapy. Her goal is to have her patients get the most out of their sessions and get back to living the life they deserve.
